HYPERION.

"The Fencing Master," DeKoven and Smith's most popular American opera-comique, which will be presented Wednesday night by a company of fifty people is nearing its seven hundredth performance. The organization is headed by Katharine Germaine and includes the popular comedian, H. W. The Denick, Nellie Bergen and several other favorite singers. The patronage of the opera's third season seems stronger than ever. The scenery is pleasing and especially interesting, as the views in Italy it represents are actual reproductions taken from photographs obtained for the purpose. The costumes provide local color to the surroundings, as do also the numerous minor accessories employed by the characters. Miss Germaine is a prime favorite in New Haven. Signor A. Tomasi will direct. Sale of seats now open. Prices, $1 and 75 cents.

Rice's ever popular burlesque, "402," will be presented next Friday and Saturday evenings. It is a veritable kaleidoscope of shimmering colors and tinsel, gorgeous costumes, brilliant specialties and ludicrous situations all vying for supremacy. In the history of burlesque nothing has ever approached it in magnitude, and its ponderous comic effects are really monuments of stage craft. The show will possess all the merits of a new production. Sale of seats opens Wednesday.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
"Sins of the Night" was given its first presentation in this city last night to a large sized audience. The entire action of the play takes place in London. Squire Thorne has a son, Harold, whom he disinherits because he married a circus rider, Rosa Marchant by name. Harold goes to Mexico to make his way in the world. While there his father dies and leaves his estate to Harold's cousin, Leslie, provided the latter marries the squire's ward, Cynthia Wayne. This marriage is distasteful to both, for Cynthia is in love with Harold, and she plots to estrange Harold and Rosa. A scheming Spaniard in the person of Manuel Ramirez is in Mexico. Leslie is indebted to him for a large amount. Leslie is not to receive his inheritance until a year from the time of Squire Thorne's death, and then only on condition that Harold does not return. Harold does return and Ramirez plots his death in order that he may receive the large amount of money due him. He is frustrated by Tim Dexter and John Marchant. The last act occurs at Squire Thorne's house. Harold enters unexpectedly. There are explanations, and Harold forgives everything, regains possession of his wife and all is well.

The company is an excellent one. Those deserving of special mention are Frank Harrington, Louis Glover, Bertram Hood, Miss Susie Willis, Rilla O. Neal, Lillian Price, Florence Marion, Beatrice Glover. There will be a matinee to-day and to-morrow and an evening performance this and to-morrow evenings. Matinee prices, 10, 20 and 25 cents.

The attraction offered the last three days this week at the popular and handsome opera house is that great and widely known vaudeville organization, the New Boston Howard Atheneum Star Specialty company, the acknowledged leader among the troupes of its kind now catering for public favor in the United States. Andy Hughes, the celebrated Irish comedian, who is its sole proprietor and manager, spent the greater portion of last summer in Europe procuring talent for this company, and that he has gotten together a most stunning collection of exceptionally clever performers is shown by the colossal success of the troupe with both press and people. Matinee Friday and Saturday.

POLI'S WONDERLAND THEATER.
Press Eldridge must have been pleased as he contemplated the great crowds that came to Poli's Wonderland theater yesterday to welcome him back after ten years' absence from the city. It must have occurred to him how immeasurably vaudeville has grown in public favor in that time. As he looked into the faces that greeted him in hearty welcome he could not but have been impressed with the difference of the class who now patronize vaudeville. Ten years ago it was only the rougher element of the community who cared to frequent variety theaters; now the very best people in every city visit them. And this is especially true of New Haven, since Mr. Poli has shown the public what high class vaudeville is. Press gave his best efforts, and his specialty was one of the most brightest and most original comedy creations ever seen here. His allusions to topics of current interest, and his songs, were in the spiciest vein, and the laughter was constant while he held the stage. The specialties by the company were nearly all in the line of comedy also, making a performance that was richly entertaining throughout. Two performances of the great bill are given every afternoon, exactly the same as in the evening, and ladies are admitted for ten cents to all parts of the house.

Will Make No Detectives.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of police commissioners will be held this evening, but despite all reports to the contrary it is not generally believed that any action will be taken in the matter of creating a detective bureau in this city. There is considerable business of a routine nature to be transacted, but beyond this it is expected that no other business will be done.

NEW HAVEN Y. P. S. C. E.

Plans for a Temperance Campaign Prior to the Coming City and Town Election.
A meeting of the committee on good citizenship of the various Y. P. S. C. E. societies of New Haven was held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening, with Dr. S. C. Whitney as chairman, to discuss temperance work and interests. A sub-committee was appointed to formulate a plan for holding mass temperance meetings in the different churches of the city before the city elections. This sub-committee is to report at an adjourned meeting to be held at the First Baptist church November 17 at 4:30, when the plans will be then completed.
It was voted to ask every pastor in the city to give at least one service to the cause before election and to emphasize the duty of voting for no license. The secretary was instructed to ask all temperance societies of the city to unite in an effort to bring out a large no license vote.
